Fargo Photographer Opens “That Was My Solace” Show

Fargo, ND—Fine art landscape photographer Scott Seiler opens his show “That Was My Solace” on September 1 at Gallery 4 in Fargo. His photo exhibit focuses on his artwork through a process that he calls a macro patchwork of landscapes. The intricacy and assortment of what we see daily and through this, how he found compassion and satisfaction from growing up on the family farm.

Exhibit: That Was My Solace

Dates: September 1 – 30, 2017

Location: Gallery 4 in the Black Building, 112 Broadway, Fargo, ND

Artist Reception: Thursday—September 7, 2017, 5p-9p (Free and Open to public)

Scott Seiler is a life-long North Dakota resident, who grew up on a ranch near Raleigh. This is where farming and experiencing the prairie created many wonderful memories. Seiler is a fine art landscape photographer, whose perspective has been shaped by his love of rural Midwestern architecture and geography.
